

CHAPTER IX.

THE RISING OF THE COMMUNEROS IN SPAIN.

Policy of Ferdinand and Isabella—Assertion of the Royal Power—Spain and the Inquisition—The Inquisition and Political Despotism—Repellent Spirit of the Government—The Fanatic Isabella—Outbreak of Revolt under Charles—Weakness of the Junta—Failure of the Insurrection—Subsequent R6le of the Cortes—Philip II. and the Cortes—Sources of Chapter IX.	217-229
--	---------

CHAPTER X.

REFORMATION AND REVOLUTION IN THE
NETHERLANDS—THE BEGINNINGS OF THE RELIGIOUS REVOLT.

Charles V. and the Netherlands—Revolt and Punishment of Ghent—Charles and the Burgundian State—Revolt against the Mediaeval Church—Reforming Movements—Erasmus as Apostle of Progress—Humanists and Rederij leers—John of Wessel—Charles Persecutes Heretics—Anabaptist Fanatics—Charles's Religious Policy—Philip II. and the Netherlands—Philip as Ruler—Philip's Zeal against Heresy—William of Orange—William's Motives and Policy—The Magnates and their Opposition—Hostility to Granvelle—First Triumph of the Opposition—Growth of Protestantism—Fruitless Negotiations with Philip—"Long Live the Beggars"—Iconoclast Fury of the People—Philip Swears Vengeance—Factors of the Dutch Revolution—Sources of Chapter X.	230-256
--	---------

CHAPTER XI.

REFORMATION AND REVOLUTION IN THE
NETHERLANDS—WILLIAM OF ORANGE AND THE STRUGGLE AGAINST DESPOTISM.

Alva's Regime of Blood—Holocausts to Mammon and Bigotry—Gachard's Judgment of Alva's Regime —Resistance by Force of Arms—William's Religious Standpoint—William as Politician—William's Policy—His Attitude towards Philip—William at Bay in Holland—Dutch Heroism—Alva's Failure—The Issues at Stake—Determination despite Disaster—Endurance of Leyden—The Outlook once more Desperate—The Pacification of Ghent—William and Don John—William Distrustful and Hostile—Difficulties of the Situation
---	--